

Negotiation Types, Styles, and Tactics/Techniques Used

Q: What negotiation types, styles, and tactics/techniques were used in the given negotiation clip?

Answer:-

1. Negotiation Type

This negotiation can be seen as a collaborative or integrative one. Both parties, The Turk and Don Corleone, are looking for a deal that benefits them mutually. The Turk is asking for funding, political influence, and protection, and in return, he offers a valuable advantage.

2. Negotiation Styles

- Assertive Style:

The Turk is very clear and confident when he presents his demands, such as the $1 million in cash. This confidence establishes his credibility and helps set the tone for the discussion.

- Logical/Analytical Style:

Both sides discuss factual details, such as the projected financial return of $34 million in the first year and the 30% profit share. This focus on numbers makes the proposal appear practical and can be seen as very well thoughtfully predicted.

3. Tactics and Techniques Used

- Anchoring:

The Turk starts the negotiation with a bold and specific demand: $1 million in cash. This tactic sets the stage and frames the negotiation around a significant starting point.

Explanation of Key Moments in the Clip:

1. Opening Demand:

The Turk opens the conversation by asking for $1 million. This assertive opening makes it clear that this is a serious deal with high stakes.

2. Offering Returns:

By presenting a 30% share and the promise of $34 million in the first year, The Turk frames the deal as an opportunity for significant financial growth.

3. Political Influence:

The Turk brings up political advantage, highlighting how crucial connections are for success. This adds a strategic side to the deal.

4. Questioning kindness:

When The Turk questions why Don Corleone is so generous, it reveals his cautious nature. This moment also shows how trust can influence the outcome of any negotiation.

5. Corleone's Authority:

The entire negotiation revolves around Don Corleone's influence and reputation. This highlights how much respect and power can strengthen a person's position in a negotiation.
